

WYNNWOOD SCORES FIFTH VICTORY OF WINTER SEASON AT NEW ORLEANS

BILLY GIBSON, OUTSTANDING FAVORITE, DEFEATED THE EVENT FOR JUVENILES

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—Wynnwood scored his fifth victory of the winter season in the feature race at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. Translate was heavily backed for second and third place, and followed Wynnwood. Courtship came behind for third money.

The first race for juveniles at three furlongs, started in the defeat of Billy Gibson, an outstanding favorite, who was second. Old Top won after leading from the start. Billy Whiskers was third.

Ace of Aces won the second race handily. Serban moved out for second place. The purse, however, was taken from Ace of Aces on the protest of H. Neustetter, who contended that he carried two pounds less than the conditions required. He was sustained in his contention by the stewards. Serban was awarded first money and Jago got second. The award did not affect the betting, however.

The Wit outstayed Day Lilly in the fifth race by a length. Marce John, an outsider, headed the horses in third place.

Midnight Sun, a slight favorite, showed the way home to the band that opposed him in the sixth race. Wynnwood took second place and Jago was third. Midnight Sun went lame in the last sixteenth.

The concluding number went to Kate Brummel, which was heavily backed. She won from W. H. Buckner, the favorite, with Attorney Mue in third place.

Curley Brown, Havana Race Manager, Pardoned

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—H. D. (Curley) Brown, general manager of the Cuban-American Jockey Club, who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for shooting and wounding Alberto Piedra, son-in-law of Juan Montalvo, former secretary of state, in 1919, has been granted a pardon. A Presidential decree dated January 21 to that effect is published in the official gazette.

Brown was not sentenced until April, 1921, and had by that time left Cuba, having been allowed his freedom on bail after his arrest. He arrived here a few days ago from California to receive the pardon.

Sports Through Edgren's Eyes

Washington and Jefferson gave California such a corking football game that California is planning to invite the Presidents out again next year. The W. & J. style of play made a tremendous hit on the Pacific Coast. It was clean, hard football, with words of speed and all the variety that any team could use on a muddy field. The Easterners were good enough to let the California team in on the offense, was a heroic figure.

The Easterners started tearing up the California line at a terrific pace in the first quarter, and according to their custom the Bears offered a stubborn defense and waited for the Easterners to tire. As other visiting teams have tried, but W. & J. didn't slacken and the Californians were soon forced to use all their strategy to keep the Bears from getting on W. & J. territory most of the time, and California got nearer to the rival goal line than W. & J. did during the game, but that was because of Archie Neabill's wonderful punting. In team play W. & J. showed a marked advantage.

The failure of California's favorite passing game was only partly caused by a muddy ball and a slippery field, for nearly every time a pass was attempted the California runners were unable to get through or around W. & J.'s magnificent defense.

W. & J. gained 130 yards by rushing against California's 56, and that's the story of the game. Now Californian players and managers have agreed that the Bears are the Presidents again, if W. & J. develops another great team next year, and it is likely that the Pennsylvanians will be invited to go to the Coast for the opening of the new $1,000,000 stadium at Berkeley.

Climate Is Problem.

W. & J. solved the problem of putting a team on the field after a long trip in perfect playing condition by training at home and on the trip, and arriving shortly before the event.

I have seen many athletic teams suffer from climatic changes by going to the scene of the contest. The athletes' teams going to England always do best when they arrive just before the contest.

Athletes who go abroad to compete are always at their best during the week following their arrival, and always slump during the second week, because of climatic changes and the tension caused by waiting for a contest for which they are prepared and fit when they arrive.

Second Fight.

There was just one reason for Johnny Wilson's backing out of the match with Harry Greb. Manager Killilea says that Rickard, Greb's manager, was giving him the $25,000 purse for the Downey bout in New Jersey, that was held up by order of the New Jersey boxing commission, only on condition that Wilson would take on Greb at the Garden. Killilea intimates that he felt peeved over being forced into a match he didn't want, and being safely back in Boston with the money. Just justified in cancelling the bout. "All bunk!" Having made the agreement, Killilea and Wilson should go through with it. The plain fact is that Wilson is a second-rate champion, and that he knows Greb would beat him. A champion who cancels a match because he knows he's not good enough to have a chance should be barred from holding a title. No matter how good his technical claim to the title may be, the public will not recognize him as champion unless he delivers the goods. The boxing commissions of New York and Massachusetts have shown how they regard Wilson's action by barring him from further competition. There should be a national governing body in boxing that would drop Wilson from the list of champions permanently.

Not a Real Champ.

Imagine Kid McCoy sidestepping Greb. Imagine Tommy Ryan hiding behind the kind of an excuse Wilson offers for flunking. Imagine Bob Fitzsimmons showing the white feather. And when would Papke or Ketchel have run to cover to avoid Harry Greb or anyone else?

Would Frank Klaus have gone into hiding if a man like Greb was on his trail? We used to have some real champions in the middleweight class, but of late years the middleweights have been a poor lot, and hardly worth looking at.

O'Dowd was a game, sturdy fighter, but lacking in skill.

As for Wilson, I see no reason why Rickard should want to put him on at all, with anybody. Or why the public should pay to see him backing around a ring.

Turning the Tables.

Johnny Dundee can soon claim a record. He is the busiest boxer in the business. Dundee is a marvel for staying quality. For several years fight fans have been watching him to see when he is going to wilt. But he goes on fighting as aggressively and tirelessly as ever.

Dundee, like lightweight champion Benny Leonard can be absolutely depended upon to deliver the goods every time he starts. Once, a long while ago, he was knocked out by Willie Jackson, and the public thought that was the beginning of Dundee's finish. Since then he has fought Jackson several times, and when Jackson since Johnny on the chin now he breaks his hands.

Some tough nut!

PROFESSIONAL GOLFERS TO COMPETE FOR MORE MONEY THAN EVER BEFORE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—When representatives of the Professional Golfers' Association gather at the Oakmont Country Club next season for their championship tournament for the Wanamaker prizes, they will have a chance to compete for more money than at any previous occasion since this event has been on the schedule. The donor has increased the money $500, making a total of $2,350, in addition to the diamond medal, silver challenge cup, gold, silver and bronze medals.

Under the new conditions decided upon at the recent executive committee meeting sixty-four players will qualify instead of the thirty-two heretofore. The extra $500, therefore, is for the thirty-two who are eliminated from the first round. With the new number of contestants, the Oakmont Country Club will be assured of the most representative field it will be possible to muster. Despite the extra players, the tournament will not really call for anything more in the way of play, as the first two rounds will be at 18 holes. Beginning with the second day, the matches will be over the 36-hole route.

Earle Hooker Eaton, the Upper Montclair Country Club golfer, recently returned from the Northwest, talks entertainingly of the North-west in which Jim Barnes and Jock Hutchison took part at Vancouver and Victoria. In their match at the Victoria Golf Club on December 17, Barnes and Hutchison lost to David Black, four times open champion of Canada, and Phil Taylor, an English-taught player from London.

What Eaton considers as the most spectacular incident he ever saw in a golf event occurred at the short tenth hole in the afternoon. The distance is 147 yards, and Barnes with his masher imparted such an abnormal back spin to the ball that the rubber core, after striking the green, some two feet beyond the flag, actually bounced backward more than half the distance to the cup. The ball was at the dead end, and they gave him the putt.

In the meantime, Taylor, who had laid his tee shot hole high, to the French Youth Is Grateful To Juniors

One of the services undertaken in Europe by the Junior American Red Cross has been that of financing scholarships for worthy children, who through poverty brought on by the war are not able to complete their education without such assistance. From these countries have come letters to the American Red Cross voicing gratitude for what has been done for these children. Most of these letters are written by the children themselves. They all read very much like this one written by a French boy.

"Thanks to my little American benefactors I can again this year go on with my studies. I will never forget what I owe them and should be grateful to you if you would tell them in my behalf how tremendously indebted I am to them. I can only repay them by working hard in order to get a good position and in so doing show them that a little French boy is grateful.

"I have entered the fourth grade, and I will try to win a good place.

"In addition to Latin, I am studying Greek; geometry has been added to mathematics; I continue the study of the English language hoping that one day I will meet, either in my country or in theirs, one of my dear benefactors. On such a day I shall be happy to be able to tell them the language you sacrificed have not been in vain; what I am today I owe to you and I hope they may be very proud of me.

"Soon perhaps, dear madam, I may have the happiness to see you; if I had an opportunity to go to Paris, I would ask my mother to take me to your office (she herself would be very glad to make your acquaintance) and then I could express to you all my appreciation and gratitude, as well as my affection.

"Awaiting this so much desired pleasure, I beg you, dear madam, to believe me always your little obliged friend who loves you very much and kisses you with all his heart."

Small But Busy.

The two Kinglets, the Golden-crowned and the Ruby-crowned, the smallest of our birds with the exception of the Hummingbirds, are common during the spring migration, says the American Forestry Magazine, and fit about the trees, prying into every nook in search of insects.

The Basketball League Will Launch 'Health-Game' In Jugo-Slavia

In order that the Boys' Herald Basketball League will be launched at the earliest possible time, a schedule will be made up as soon as the teams which have signified their intention of entering the league submit to the editor the name they have the use of their respective gymnasiums.

After receiving the various letters from the teams a schedule will be immediately made up. Efforts will be made to place the first game on Thursday night or Friday at the latest.

Your interest in the success of the league would compel you to write the desired information to the editor so that the first game may be played.

Managers of teams who have applied to enter the league are urged to write immediately to the editor telling him what night his team is able to use the gymnasium and at what hour.

It is probable that two games may be played the same night.

Have the success of the Boys' Herald League foremost in your mind.

Remember that teams are urged to play a clean game.

Be present at the gymnasium at least fifteen minutes before the game is scheduled to start.

Go through the season without forfeiting a game. To forfeit a game shows poor sportsmanship.

Watch for the names of the team who will open the Boys' Herald Basketball League.

The announcement can be made within the next two days if managers of the teams will submit immediately the information desired to the editor of this page.

A Watchful Waiter.

Soon after the earliest blossoms have lifted their heads to the sunshine the stately queen of the vernal woods—the large white trillium—unfurls her banners of snowy white, says the American Forestry Magazine. In many woods this species occurs in such numbers as to give the forest floor the appearance of a white-strewn carpet. We are likely to find a white spider, with the front two pairs of legs much elongated, sitting close to the center of the flower. This is the white crab spider, a species which maintains an attitude of watchful waiting with its long legs spread like a pair of forelegs over the middle of the blossom ready to seize such insects as may visit it in search of nectar or pollen.

HELPING THE SICK.

In the St. Elizabeth's and the Methodist hospitals at Hutchinson, Kans., there is a room known as the "Junior Red Cross Room." These rooms have been leased for a period of 99 years and the cost of their maintenance is being largely defrayed by the girls and boys of the Junior American Red Cross.

These rooms in the hospitals are free to school children of Reno County, Kansas, the 16 years of age who need financial aid, but not for persons who would be a public charge. It is estimated that the total value of the work done in these two hospitals for children up to the first of last November, if paid for at the regular rate would amount to $2,000.70.

At the Junior Red Cross room in the Methodist Hospital forty-nine patients have been cared for from October 27, 1919, to November 1, 1921. At St. Elizabeth's hospital, ten Junior patients have been cared for in the same period of time.

After-Dinner Tricks

To cause a dime to disappear from the closed fist is not a difficult matter. A bit of beeswax or soft soap is attached to the middle finger nail. The coin is placed in the palm of the hand and in closing the fist, the waxed fingernail is pressed firmly against the dime. The land is opened with a quick flourish, and the coin has gone.

Calls in Early Spring.

An early arrival in the spring woods is the Dutchman's Breeches, or "Boys and Girls." It is often called. This flower is pollinated by bumblebees, which insert their long tongues into the spurs in which the nectar is held, says the American Forestry Magazine. The flower stalks and leaves spring from a cluster of little tubers, crowded together to form a scaly bulb, and it is in this bulb that the nourishment is stored which allows the plant to make such rapid growth so early.

DISCARD THOSE TERRIBLE SICK HEADACHES

Violent, sick headaches are a symptom of some disorder, and in nine cases out of ten, the cause is auto-intoxication. This is an accumulation of toxins or body poisons. They tell you they are there by dizziness, nausea and pains. First of all, you would relieve the pain, and the greatest means of combating pain is aspirin. It is not a narcotic drug, but if taken alone, it very often affects the digestion.

To prevent this, the new genuine aspirin has added to it a mild detergent that overcomes the objection to ordinary aspirin. Within ten minutes the pain has disappeared.

Now for the cause. TINGLES LAXO ASPIRIN assures permanent relief by attacking the cause. A gentle laxative is included with the aspirin and digestant. This thoroughly cleanses the body of waste and brings about instant, absolute relief.

Physicians recommend it because it safely, sanely brings immediate relief. Remember to ask for TINGLES LAXO ASPIRIN with the three points:

- It's absorbed easily
- It's gentle laxative
- It's digestant
